FACEBOOK ADS

There are only 2 types of marketing.

Luck marketing

Posting a large amount of content to a small amount of people in a short time frame and hoping an ideal client sees it.

Luck marketing

- Relying on referrals
- You are only posting organically on social media (and it's not working)
- You are chasing new business by networking online or in person
- Nothing is automated
- You're not clear who your ideal client is and what you should be selling to them

2. Having a system

Showing a small amount of content to a large amount of carefully targeted people, with an irresistible call to action and an automated follow-up system.

Having a system

- You have a steady stream of ideal clients approaching you
- You can 'turn on the tap' to increase that stream when you need it
- Your clients already understand that you are the 'least risk' option because they know you are the expert they need
- Your offer is irresistible meaning that closing the sale is easy
- Your clients stop making the decision to work with you based on price

Scale.

- . Create a lead magnet
- . Start an email list
- . Paid ads & retargeting

But my clients aren't on Facebook

In the UK specifically, there are now 40 million Facebook users who can be reached with ads.

This equates to 71% of UK adults.

42% of UK adults can be reached with Instagram ads.

Finding your audience

- Are your ideal clients really hanging out where you think they are hanging out?
- How do you know?
- Have you checked your traffic sources?

The validation challenge

Google Analytics

The Value Ladder

Lead magnet.

A successful lead magnet solves a real problem for someone by promising to help that person get something done faster, better or cheaper.

A successful lead magnet tells your ideal client that they don't need to reinvent the wheel, because you've already been there, done that and can teach them too. ie. it directly establishes your expertise and authority.

Email marketing.

- Sign up page
- Sign up thank you page
- Delivery email with link to...
- Delivery page
- Triggers follow-up email sequence

The magic of retargeting.

- . Identify people who looked but didn't act
- . Show them content to give them a nudge
- . Super-specific + micro-budget = effective
- . Will remind them how great you are
- . Won't spam them with ads

~~Boring.~~

Four point ad planning

1. DESIRABLE OUTCOME

- know what you want to happen

2. STRONG CONTENT

- use something that already did well and got that outcome

3. RIGHT PEOPLE

- show it to the people who are likely to do that thing you want

4. KNOW THE OUTCOMES

- know what actually happened, and at what cost

3. RIGHT PEOPLE

- show to people who will do the thing you want
- use custom audiences

Lookalikes = cold, never heard of you

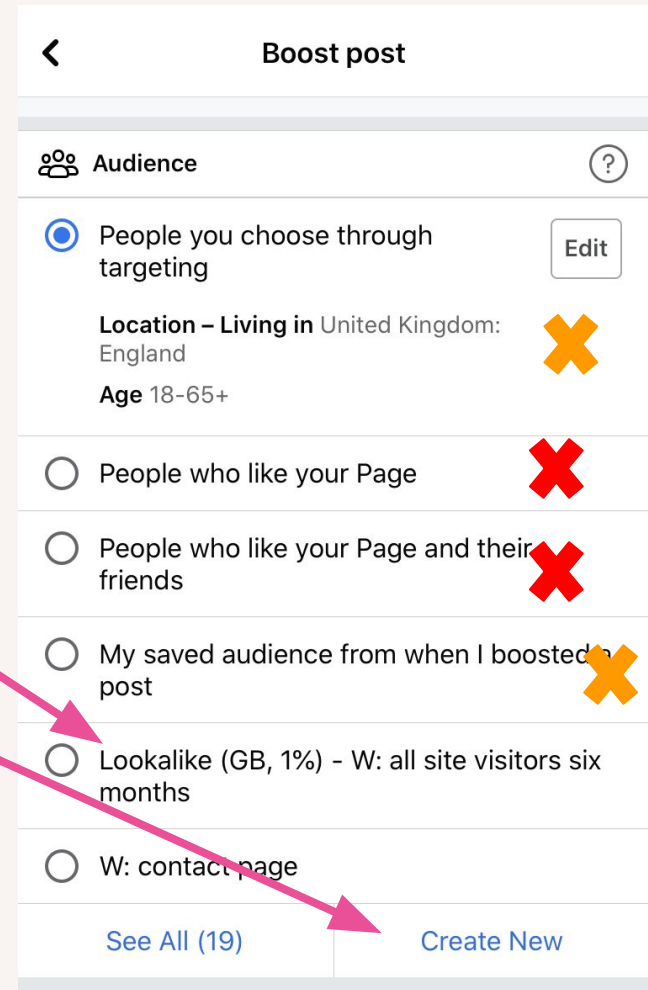

Stack and squeeze for a hot retarget

EXCLUDE

[site visitors who reached my contact success page]

4 - KNOW THE OUTCOMES

See what happened at what cost - AKA metrics reporting

Reach = how many saw it

Frequency = how many times they saw it

Clicks = how many people clicked

Landing Page Views = how many loaded the page

Cost per click

= clicks / spend

= how much on average it cost you to get one click

Cost per “thing”

= number of “things” / spend

= how much on average it cost you to get “thing” to happen

The screenshot shows a campaign metrics dashboard with a dark header containing a home icon, a right arrow, and a checkmark icon next to the word 'CAMPAIGN'. The dashboard is divided into three sections: 'CONVERSIONS', 'PERFORMANCE', and 'ENGAGEMENT', each with a light gray header. The 'CONVERSIONS' section lists seven metrics with their values. The 'PERFORMANCE' section lists three metrics, with 'Reach' and 'Frequency' having information icons. The 'ENGAGEMENT' section lists four metrics with their values.

Do unicorns exist? What if it IS possible to hire a pro web designer who really 'gets' your vibe and who can deliver a gorgeous website in under two weeks?

There's a big difference between a DIY website and a pro designer who makes getting YOU more clients a priority.

If you've ever tried to DIY your website, then you'll know EXACTLY how frustrating it is when it doesn't turn out how you imagined, and the tech is a nightmare. *bangs head on desk*... See more
